Bio

Jay RK (aka The Rockin Krolik) is a french born Canadian singer-songwriter.

Pearl Jam, The Cranberries, Alanis Morissette, Tracy Chapman are amongst artists who inspired him to pick up a guitar and start his musical journey in his twenties.

Jay is a passionate artist who believes in authentic self-expression and wears his heart on his sleeve, whether he writes or performs live.

He strives for meaningful connections with people by leaving a piece of himself in every song he crafts, with personal and vulnerable lyrics.

In 2021, Jay RK was nominated by the OMAs in the category "Singer-Songwriter of the year" for his song "More than enough" inspired by Gwen Tuinman's novel "we are enough".

"Shedding Skin", a 6-song EP, released in February 2024, was nominated for "Album of the Year" at the DREAMS awards 2025.

Jay RK returned with two new singles in 2026.

Day in Day Out, in February 2026, a reflective and emotionally charged song that captures the feeling of days and nights blending into one, when routine becomes a hamster wheel, and life slips into autopilot.

Tongue Tied, in June 2026, a lively pop rock single that combines sunny instrumentation with refreshingly honest storytelling. Playful lyrics explore those unexpectedly speechless moments around someone special.

Jay RK is currently working on his 3rd album set for release in early 2027.
